

Health & Safety

No organization can afford losses such as injuries, illnesses and damage to property and other resources resulting from workplace accidents. It is imperative that efforts be made to identify the causes of these accidents and prevent them from happening.

This programme is designed to equip trainees with the essential practical skills and knowledge to work within one of the most important fields in industry. Trainees will learn to identify hazards and assess risks from workplace activities and apply precautions and safe work practices.

TARGET GROUP

This program is intended for high school graduates and job seekers.

BENEFITS OF ATTENDING

Upon completion of this program, participants would be able to work anywhere where technical assistance is required to identify, evaluate, and control workplace hazards. They can get employment as: safety officer, inspector, and coordinator.
